1. Problem Background

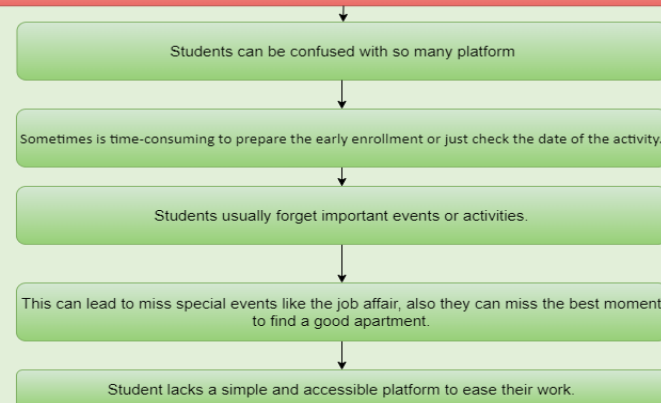

- In every university there's wallboard that gets ignored multiple times, making it a waste most of the time.
- The wallboard is unorganized making it hard for people to find if there is something interesting that they are looking for, and probably missing stuff they would otherwise find interesting.
- It can only access at the time university is open meaning it can't be accessible all the time.

2. Target

- Help many individuals to find what they are looking at on the board without any problems going to the board every day at the university.
- Make sharing easier for the people that are spreading in the wallboard to people.
- Allow professors to put the events that their classes are making. Even making a post about recruiting instructors for the class like programming.
- To landlords that want to add apartments for the students to live near the university*.
- Even for outsiders that want to visit the university like students from high school to check the university with the tour news.
- For people that make surveys for research, have an option to share it on the website and describe fully on the post they created.

3. Causes

Problem: Students don't have a platform that shows all the news from the university as a wallboard, with a map, event scheduler, and other feature related to the daily life of an student.

4. Countermeasures

- Create a platform for people that would represent the university's wallboard (and more) to take wherever they go, on their mobile devices.
- Have a system to be able to categorize the posts that people put on the platform so it could be organized and accessible.
- Have a share option to go directly to the platforms that people would normally share some news, like WhatsApp, etc.
- Add a map for the university, as well as synchronize the university's google calendar so people could see important dates, deadlines, schedule changes, etc.
- Add a forum for students to share any questions or discussions.

5. Check/Evaluate

- Will the university have more people in events (due to the more accessible wallboard)?
- How many people post news? (Example: stray animals, university activities, fundraisers, surveys for classes)
- Stable traffic of users entering the website.
- Posts can be made and be able to publish efficiently.
- Drop a review on the website and see how useful it has been for people and gather feedback.

6. Act/Standardize

- Make the site have an app version on mobile
- Make the site have a forum for people to make conversation of university related stuff like news and events.
- Have the website connect to the UPRM (new & old) homepages.
- Maintain more updates with making the UI better and its system.
