Problem Background

>The gaming industry and market have only continued to growth and as a result this industry have attract a larger audience to the ecosystem, a lot of the audience is looking to make a living playing video games using different platforms to stream video games and show how much skills or talent they have in a video game.

>A lot of the games that are competitive or multiplayer are base of a team play environment where you basically need a team to play those games and a lot of gamer do not have people or friends to play those specific games to elevate they play style and rank up in the games.

>Puerto Rico specific do not have any area or app where you can find different type of local players and gamers that you can interact with them to team up and get some games together.

Target

The target of this project is to create an app or website that will help local gamers to find other gamers and get to know each other. How the is this going to function? well the goal of the app will be that all gamers will create an personal account where you can post all the games that you play, you can post clips, videos, your other social media accounts etc, When you create the account the app will ask you want games you play and based on that it will track other player in the same area or region as you that are playing that specific type of game.

Causes

Problem: The industry of gaming is highly increasing and PR do not have a platform to connect gamers that are local.

Gamers don't have a way to create a team

The lack of this can prevent gamers of PR to grow as content creators or competitive gamers

Gamers can't find other local players it could be difficult and frustrating to play games alone.

Countermeasures

1. Connect the gamers via the app

2. Let the users choose the games they play and in this way track other users that play the same games.

3. Find other players that are pursuing the same interest in a specific game.

4. Recommend the users to put information of what they are playing.

5. Modify the profile when you are playing other games and keep the profile up to date.

6. Let the users write a little description of what interest they have in the games if they want to play it competitive or just for fun.

Check/Evaluate

The project will succeed if the countermeasures works and the gamers start to use the apps to find others gamers to create new friendships and play together.

Act/Standardize
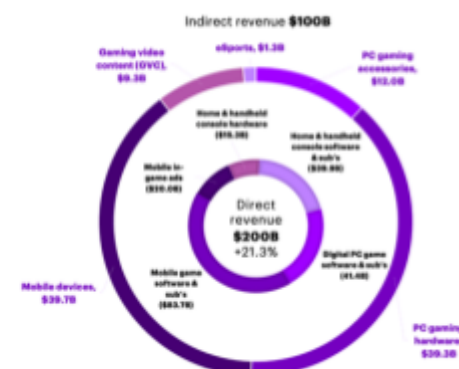

Make a site or app that is available in mobiles and in computers for it to be more accessible so more people can join.

Have a website so people can see how the app works and how to interact with other gamers in the local area.

Create a track system so the app can found people with the same interest.
